THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22.

A POINTER FOR NEXT YEAR.

A gentleman who has seen considerable of New York during the past summer has observed that the great sentiment among republicans of the state is for Blaine. They don't talk anything else. They have no faith that anyone else will be nominated; and of course they have a confidence which cannot be shaken, that he will carry New York by a big majority.

The gentleman particularly noticed this fact, that many mugwumps who voted against Mr. Blaine in 1884, are now chanting his praise, and have faith in his nomination and election. The failure of the Cleveland administration to meet the expectations of the mugwumps, the strangling of civil service reform by Mr. Cleveland's advisers, and the fact that he has done a good deal of strangling himself, the abandonment of all effort on the part of the president to fulfil his gilt edge promises of 1884, and the slipshod way in which things are generally run at Washington, have turned the political stomachs of thousands of mugwumps, and a good many of them are now for Blaine. But this is not all. There is no man on earth about whom the democrats love to lie so much as they do about Mr. Blaine. Next to holding an office the abuse of Blaine gives them the greater consolation. Why? Because they are afraid of him. The canvass of 1884 frightens them. It wasn't Cleveland strength that made him president, but a blunder, and the democrats know full well that there will be no blunders on the part of the republicans next year. And this constant abuse of the man from Maine, although he is a private citizen, and keeps his counsels to himself, is bringing mugwumps to him every day.

There is no getting around the fact. Mr. Blaine is one of the most remarkable men in this country. Throwing all his so-called magnetism and brilliancy aside, he yet remains the foremost American of the time. He is a man of might in any way you may take him. He needs no official position to make him great. Even as a private citizen he is head and shoulder above some presidents. He has consummate ability as a leader of men. While he is off in Europe unostentatiously looking about the capital cities, studying history and art and the customs of the people and the policy of governments, his influence throws democratic papers into madness, and the people are shouting for Blaine a full year before the time. He is the only man in America who can run away from home four thousand miles and stay a year, and at the same time keep his boom on the increase.

Whatever some republican journals or politicians may think of Blaine or doubt the propriety of his nomination, they cannot deny this estimate of the man's ability and influence. He may not be politic in all things and may be faulty in rashness at times, but it will not be denied that he has the people with him, and that his nomination, if he will accept the honor, is certain to take place on the first ballot.

These facts may serve as some pointers for next year. They are not intended as a boost for Blaine. Blaine can boost himself. It is simply a statement of a few facts that glare in the canvass even a year ahead of time. They give the democrats much concern, and are tormentors to the mugwumps who still follow George William Curtis.

The story of the Pittsfield speculator who ran away, owing his brokers a big sum on margins, and now, by reason of the advance in stocks, has a big balance to his credit, but cannot be found, reminds the Boston Transcript of the inside facts of a noted embezzlement. A trusted official of a Massachusetts national bank speculated heavily in California mining stocks, using the banks money. He got on the wrong side of the market. The directors, after the manner of their kind, suspected nothing. The defaulter threw himself upon their mercy. They had no mercy to spare. They simply passed him over to the police. He surrendered all his mining stocks. Several days passed before the directors could recover from their astonishment. Then they sold the surrendered stocks, which had meanwhile advanced so far and so fast that the bank absolutely lost money on the defalcation. The defaulter went to prison, and the bitterness of his lot was intensified by the reflection that had he kept still a week longer he would have been all the richer, and the bank none the poorer.

Edward Eggleston will furnish a novel to the coming volume of The Century. It is ten years since "Roxy" appeared in the magazine. During this period the author of "The Hoosier schoolmaster" has written no fiction except two or three short stories. But, tempted by the dramatic possibilities of a popular version of a trial in which Abraham Lincoln was a chief actor, Mr. Eggleston has now returned to his old field and written a new novel of western life entitled "The Graysons, a story of Illinois." The story is said to be marked by humorous characterdrawings, strong and exciting situations, and a sympathetic understanding of the country and people described. The novel was written before any part of the life of Lincoln, by Messers Nicolay and Hay, had been published, and the appearance at this time of Mr. Lincoln as an important auxiliary character in a work of fiction is a pure coincidence.

Colonel Frederick D. Grant was with the Union army during a considerable portion of the war of the rebellion, though he was too young to take a hand in the fighting. He accompanied his father through the Fort Henry and Fort Donelson campaign, the siege of Vicksburg, and the Wilderness and Petersburg campaigns. The boy was often on the scene of actual conflict, and was once wounded.—Exchange.

Colonel Grant was only 13 years old when the desperate battle of Champion Hill was fought, and yet the little fellow mounted on a horse, galloped over the field with the courage of a general, and was frequently in the thickest of the fight. He did not dream of personal danger and if he had, he would not have minded it.

The Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, the only ex-vice president living, was at Madison on Wednesday, the guest of General Fairchild. He was at the executive office for a while during the day and received a number of callers. Mr. Hamlin is 78 years old but time has dealt kindly with him, and he doesn't look seventy. For forty years he did not wear an overcoat, but these garments are cheap now, and during the past two or three years he has worn one in the coldest weather.

A pointer in the campaign against Blaine, from the Norristown Herald: A Professor Crocker has taught a horse to sit down on his haunches without lying, "a feat which is said never to have been accomplished before." Man still has the bulge on the horse, however. The former can sit down without lying, or he can lie without sitting down, or he can sit down and lie at the same time; but if he is a democratic editor, and is going to write an article on Blaine, he can't sit down without lying.

A New York anarchist says that the execution of his Chicago comrades "will be worse than the crucifixion," and that to save them he "would do anything, even to firing a city." The better way is to proceed with the hanging, do it up in good shape, and then talk the matter over afterwards.

The late Mrs. Anna Paul Hendricks, of Madison, Iowa, was the wife of the first governor of that state. He was at one time United States senator, and she rode to Washington on horseback with him and sat by his side in congress—New York Tribune.

Will the Tribune please state when the first governor of Iowa was a United States senator?

Talk about the snubbing of Governor Forsker by Mrs. Cleveland, it won't match the snubbing Cleveland will get one year from next November.

A BANISHED PRELATE.

Arrival of the Deposed Archbishop of Guatemala at San Francisco—His Offense.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—A Washington dispatch yesterday morning stated that Ricaldo Casanova, Archbishop of Guatemala, was en route to San Francisco. There is a bit of interesting history to this case. The Archbishop was summarily expelled from Guatemala September 3 by President Barillas for refusing to acknowledge the authority of the civil Government. It appears that a short time ago the Government (which at present is Barillas) issued a decree requiring that all documents addressed by the Archbishop in his official capacity to his priests should first be submitted for approval to the Minister of the Interior. In reply the Archbishop had printed and extensively circulated a defiant manifesto declaring that he would not submit to the decree, as it would make a slave of the church to the civil Government; that he was amenable to the authority only of God and the Pope. Barillas, whose violent temper is known beyond the seas, ordered the Minister of War to see that Casanova was immediately expelled, and that he did not return till the Government should give him permission. So the Archbishop was at once put on a special engine and speeded over the frontier. The Archbishop's friends here are inclined to uphold him in his action.

EIGHT OR TEN LIVES LOST.

Disastrous Collision on the Southern Kansas Railroad's Gulf Division.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 22.—A pilot-engine on the gulf division of the Southern Kansas railroad collided yesterday at Guthrie, four miles south of Purcell, I. T., with a construction train while both were moving at a high rate of speed. The two engines and twelve freight cars were piled in a heap. It is rumored that a large number of the workmen were killed, but details are meager. Most reports say that eight or ten were killed or wounded. It is known that Engineer Charles Pearson, of the light engine, was fatally crushed, and this fireman, Charles Stowart, seriously crushed.

FLAMES IN A MAD-HOUSE.

An Insane Hospital at Jacksonville, Ill., Burned—Patients at Large.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Sept. 22.—The main building of the Oak Lawn retreat, a private insane asylum near this city, was found to be on fire between twelve m. and one o'clock p. m. yesterday, and before help could be had it was burned to the ground. There were quite a number of patients in it from Washington Territory. Dr. McFarland, the proprietor, was badly burned. No lives were lost. The patients were liberated, and are now tramping about the grounds and raising a great commotion. The loss will exceed $20,000.

Inter-State Commerce.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission held a brief session in this city Wednesday, at which decisions were announced upon three complaints against the Central Vermont railroad under the long and short haul clause of the law. The commission dismissed two of the complaints, brought by a rival railroad company, but sustained the third, emanating from the Vermont Patrons of Husbandry, and made an order forbidding the defendant railroad company to make higher charges upon its inter-State traffic for short hauls than for long hauls.

Huntington's Story.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Mr. C. P. Huntington was examined by the Pacific Railroad Commission Wednesday. He said members of Congress were "fixed" by proper arguments. "Switching" Senators to the Union Pacific way of thinking was also done by proper argument. Proper argument gained every thing that was required. At times Mr. Huntington became greatly excited, but denied that any other course than proper argument had been used to affect legislation.

The Color Line in Ohio Schools.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 22.—The last Ohio Legislature repealed the statute authorizing the establishment of separate schools for colored pupils. The attempts of the colored children to secure admission to the white schools have created great commotion in various parts of the State, and in some places the schools have been closed.

PARSON'S PLEA.

The Condemned Anarchist Addresses the Public.

THE FATAL DECISION REVIEWED.

He Declares Himself an Innocent Man—He Asks for Justice, Not Mercy, and Prefers Death to Continued Imprisonment.

FOR LIBERTY OR DEATH.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—A. R. Parsons, one of the condemned Anarchists, has issued an address to the public. Mrs. Parsons, in confiding the document to the reporter, remarked: "Only one other person has seen this." Her manner, usually so repellant and stern, was much subdued, and she pleaded for a fair treatment of her husband's words. From all the circumstances it was evident that none of the other prisoners know of Parsons' design, and that it had likewise been kept from the attorneys. The address begins as follows:

"TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE: Fellow-Citizens—As all the world knows, I have been convicted and sentenced to die for the crime of murder—the most heinous offense that can be committed. Under the forms of law two courts, viz., the Criminal and Supreme Courts of the State of Illinois, have sentenced me to death as an accessory before the fact to the murder of Officer Degan on the 4th of May, 1886. Nevertheless, I am innocent of the crime charged, and, to a candid and unprejudiced world I submit the proof. In its decision affirming the sentence of death upon me the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois says: 'It is undisputed that the bomb was thrown that caused the death of Degan. It is conceded that no one of the defendants threw the bomb with his own hands. Plaintiffs in error are charged with being accessories before the fact.' If I did not throw the bomb myself it becomes necessary to prove that I aided, encouraged and advised the person who did throw it. Is this fact proved? The Supreme Court says it is. The record says it is not. I appeal to the American people to judge between them.

"The Supreme Court quotes articles from the Alarm, the paper edited by me, and from my speeches running back three years before the Haymarket tragedy of May 4, 1886. Upon said articles and speeches the court affirms my sentence to death as an accessory. The court says: 'The articles in the Alarm were most of them by the defendant Spies, and then proceeds to quote these articles. I refer to the record to prove that of all the articles quoted only one was shown to have been written by me, and this article appeared in the Alarm December 6, 1884, a year and a half before the Haymarket meeting. As to Mr. Spies, the record will show that during the three years I was editor of the Alarm he did not write for the paper half a dozen articles."

Referring to his speech at the Haymarket and the Supreme Court's statement that it was incendiary in the extreme, Parsons says that his reference to dynamite, which is referred to by the court, was simply a recitation of General Sheridan's statement that dynamite was easily made, perfectly safe to handle, and a very destructive weapon of warfare. The attack in the Alarm headed "Working-men to Arms!" he says was not written by him, but was a republication of a hand-bill sent from Indianapolis, and which had been posted all over that city a few days before. As to his speeches he claims that all of them were given from the excited imagination and perverted memories of newspaper reporters, and he refers to the fact that one reporter testified that he was instructed by the editor of his paper to report only the inflammatory portions of the speeches. He challenges any one to prove from his speech at the Haymarket that he incited any one to violence, and declares that the connection between his speeches and the murder of Degan is imperceptible to the eye of a fair and unprejudiced mind. The address continues to review the decision of the Supreme Court at great length, and concludes as follows:

"I appeal to the American people, to their love of justice and fair play. I submit that the record does not show my guilt of the crime of murder, but, on the contrary, it proves my innocence. Against me in this trial all the rules of law and evidence have been reversed, in that I have been held guilty until I have proved my innocence. I have been tried ostensibly for murder, but in reality for anarchy. I have been proven guilty of being an Anarchist, and condemned to die for that reason.

"So far as I have had time to examine the records I find the same fabrication and perversion of testimony against all my comrades as exists against myself. I therefore again appeal to the American people to avert the crime of judicial murder. And this appeal I have faith will not be in vain.

"My ancestors partook of all the hardships incident to the establishment of this republic. They fought, bled and some of them died that the Declaration of Independence might live and the American flag might wave in triumph over those who claim the 'divine right of kings to rule.' Shall that flag now, after a century's triumph, trail in the mire of oppression and protect the perpetration of outrages and oppressions that would put the other despotisms of Europe to shame?

"The lovers of justice and fair play are assiduously engaged in an effort to thwart the consummation of judicial murder by a commutation of sentence to prison. I speak for myself alone when I say that for this I thank them, and appreciate their efforts. But I am an innocent man. I have violated no law; I have committed no offense against any one's rights. I am simply the victim of the malice of those whose anger has been aroused by the growth, strength and independence of labor organizations of America.

"My counsel informs me that every effort will be made to take this case before the highest tribunal in the land, and that there is a strong hope of a hearing there. But I am also reliably informed that from three to five years will elapse before the Supreme Court of the United States can hear and adjudge the case. Since surrendering myself to the authorities I have been locked up in close confinement twenty-one hours out of every twenty-four for six days, and from Saturday afternoon till Monday morning (thirty-eight hours) each week in a noisome cell without a ray of sunlight or a breath of pure air. To be compelled to bear this for five or even three years would be to suffer a lingering death, and it is only a matter of serious consideration with me whether I ought to accept the verdict as it stands rather than die by inches under such conditions.

"I am prepared to die. I am ready if needs be to lay down my life for my rights and the rights of my fellow-men. But I object to be killed on false and unproved accusations. Therefore I can not countenance or accept the efforts of those who would endeavor to procure a commutation of my sentence to an imprisonment in the penitentiary. Neither do I approve of any further appeals to the courts of law. I believe them to be all alike—the agency of the privileged class to perpetuate their power, to oppress and plunder the toiling masses. As between capital and its legal rights and labor and its rights the courts of law must side with the capitalistic class. To appeal to them is in vain. It is the appeal of the wage slave to his capitalistic master for liberty. The answer is curses, blows, imprisonment and death. If I had never been an Anarchist before, my experience with courts and the laws of the governing classes would make an Anarchist of me now.

"No, I am not guilty, I have not been proved guilty. I leave it to you to decide from the record itself as to my guilt or innocence. I can not, therefore, accept a commutation to imprisonment. I appeal not for mercy, but for justice. As for me, the utterance of Patrick Henry is so apropos that I can not do better than let him speak: 'Is life so dear and peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God. I know not what course others may pursue, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death.'

"Prison cell 29, A. R. PARSONS."

"Chicago, Sept. 22, 1887."

A circular of deep red Anarchistic tendencies is being secretly circulated in Chicago. It is headed "To the Working-men of the United States of North America," and denounces the action of the Supreme Court in upholding the decision of the lower court in the Anarchist cases. The circular refers to Captain Bonfield as "the notorious police bandit," and condemns and vilifies Judge Gary without stint. The circular is signed "The Federation of Trade Unions," and was printed in New York. Captain O'Donnell, of the West Twelfth street station, has telephoned all over the city to have any and all persons found distributing the circulars arrested.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Sept. 22.—A petition, asking executive clemency for the condemned Chicago Anarchists was being circulated here Tuesday by two Socialists. It received little encouragement.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22.—Letters from Anarchists and sympathizers with Anarchists have begun to pour in upon the Governor, and his mail is daily laden with appeals in behalf of the condemned Chicago criminals. One frantic appeal beseeches executive clemency "For the sake of God and humanity."

It Burns to the Ground and Four People Lose Their Lives.

A Dynamite Bomb Found Near the Chicago Street Railway Barns.

Other News From the Gazette's Force of Special Correspondents.

FATAL FLAMES.

[Special to the Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—The tenement house fire in Brooklyn last night is found to have resulted in the death of at least four persons. Their names as near as can be ascertained up to twelve o'clock to-day, are as follows:

A. GISSWELL, suffocated.

FREDERICK SIEGEL, badly burned about head. He died soon after being rescued.

EMMA DRUSY, fatally burned about the body.

Another body has been taken from the ruins but so far identification has been impossible.

Mr. Gisswell died while assisting his family to escape from a second story window. It is feared that several other bodies are still underneath the fallen timbers.

WHO WERE THEY?

[Special to the Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—It is suspected that the ten inch dynamite bomb found under the South side car barns this morning, was placed there by former employes of the company who are now followers of Spies. The bomb was scientifically made and was to be fired by clock-work.

HIS CONDITION IMPROVED.

[Special to the Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22—Hon. E. B. Washburne, who was reported by the morning papers as lying at the point of death, is now better. It is thought he will pull through.

Removing a Serious Obstruction Gently.

Dynamite and giant powder might answer admirably to remove obstructions from Hell Gate in East River, New York, but explosive measures in medication are ever attended with disastrous consequences. For instance, the bowels cannot be violently drenched with safety, nor is there the slightest necessity for so doing. On the contrary, it is most unwise. None but the purblind adherents of antiquated theories in medicine advise or sanction such a course. To weaken the intestines—the effect of drastic purgation—is to compromise the health of the entire system. With Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, on the other hand, the bowels are relaxed, not by a convulsion of nature approximating to an eruption of Mt. Popocatapetl, but gradually, beneficially, without wrenching or drenching. The liver and stomach, as well as the bowels, are toned and benefited by it.

Coal-Barges Sunk at New Orleans.

Norquay and the Red River Road.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Premier Norquay, of Manitoba, has left this city after an unsuccessful attempt to negotiate the Red River railway bonds. He is hopeful that the bonds will be floated in London, and predicts that the road will be built in spite of the obstacles that have been placed in its way.

THE FINANCIAL CRISIS.

The Treasury's Efforts to Relieve the Stringency.

BONDS TO BE FREELY PURCHASED.

Four and Four-and-a-Half Per Cents., to the Amount of $14,000,000, to Be Taken at Fixed Prices—The Situation in New York.

BUYING UP SECURITIES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Treasury announces that it will purchase daily until October 8, 4½ and 4 per cent. bonds, the aggregate amount not to exceed $14,000,000, at 108.4 for the 4½ per cents, and 125 for the 4 per cents during the present month, and 124 thereafter until October 8. This arrangement supersedes the present arrangement for weekly tenders of 4½ per cents.

About $1,500,000 in 4½ per cent. bonds were offered yesterday at the Treasury, of which over $1,000,000 was purchased at prices ranging from 108¼ to 108½. The fact that so comparatively small an amount was offered is regarded at the Treasury as indicating that there is not much real stringency in the money market, and that the feverish cry for aid comes mainly from speculators and stock jobbers. This view is strengthened by the fact that the banks still have no deposit with the Treasurer to secure their circulating notes and the public deposits over $1,000,000 of called 3 per cent. bonds. At this season there is always an active demand for money to move the crops. Heretofore New York has held the reserves of the interior banks, but an act passed by the last Congress established a number of reserve cities in the West. The effect of this law has been to retain in the West large sums previously deposited in New York; and in consequence there is less money than heretofore at that point for use in stock speculation. By keeping their reserves at home Western banks are enabled to supply their customers with funds for legitimate business transactions, and are thus rendered, to that extent at least, independent of the New York banks. This retention of money in the West has had considerable to do with the stringency in Wall street.

The clamor raised by New York stock jobbers about a scarcity of funds has doubtless frightened small capitalists and investors to hoard money, but the clamor has made no impression on the President or Secretary Fairchild, who believe that the present stringency is artificial and that relief will come through the regular channels of trade.

The talk about an extra session of Congress in November to consider the present financial situation is confined to interested parties in New York. The President sees nothing in the situation to warrant one, and has given the question no consideration whatever.

In connection with the weekly purchase of 4½ per cent. bonds it is suggested that the Treasury should also purchase 4 per cents and currency 6s, provided they were offered at a suitable price. This would bring the Secretary in relation with the holders of over $1,000,000,000 of bonds, out of which mass he might expect larger offerings than are received from the holders of the $240,000,000 of 4½ per cents. Every 4½ per cent. bond that runs to maturity will cost the Government about 118, and every 4 per cent. about 180. With money in the Treasury, bankers contend that it should be possible to obtain at fair prices such round amounts of bonds as will not only afford relief to commercial circles, but secure a very important saving for the people. Including yesterday's transactions, the total amount of bonds purchased under the Treasury circular of August is nearly $12,000,000.

WHY MONEY IS SCARCE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The uncertainty regarding the future of the money market is causing the greatest distrust not only in Wall street, but throughout the country. The general opinion of financiers is that if the Secretary of the Treasury would come out with something definite in regard to its policy of bond purchases it would have a great effect in reassuring the confidence in the mercantile community. If the Secretary would announce that he would buy $25,000,000 of the 4½ per cent. bonds at a fixed price, say 108, it is thought that this would ease the money market for some time to come. Many banks and institutions hold these bonds, and as they run out in about four years, they would be glad of the opportunity to get cash for them, for they can get a much better rate of interest for the money. The mercantile community appears to be suffering more than Wall street on account of tight money. Banks will lend much more readily on stock collateral than on notes of merchants, and will often afford light-waisted brokers better accommodations than they will allow to strong houses. One great reason merchants can't get the money is they want to borrow on time. The banks don't care to lend money for any long period now, as they expect to get a much higher rate of interest if the financial stringency continues, and they want to hold on to as much money as possible for that emergency. But they will lend readily on call loans, for they can get the money back at any moment.

The World prints interviews with a number of bankers as to "Why Money is Scarce." The following are some of their responses, briefly told:

President Coe, American Exchange Bank—One of the principal causes is the universal enterprise and activity in the country, which has created a demand for all the money, and has scattered it over a very large area, so that it does not return at this season to the same extent as in former years. This deficit comes just at a time when the great crops of the country are to be moved. The Administration could come to the relief by buying bonds and depleting the treasury. They have the money and could do it.

President Williams, of the Chemical—The activity of business and the locking up of money in the treasury is causing the trouble.

President Tappan, of the Gallatin—All kinds of bonds should be bought by the Government. The treasury officials have no policy.

President Olcott, of the Central Trust Company—The Government should buy all issues of Government bonds. If the Government is sincerely and earnestly in favor of helping the business community it must do it on a larger scale than any attempted so far.

President Stewart, of the United States Trust Company—First, the locking up of money by the treasury; second, the real estate speculation; third, the vast amount of railroad building in the West.

President Dowd, of the Bank of North America—The first cause is the creating in western cities what are called reserve centers. Under this arrangement the money is kept in Chicago, St. Paul and other places instead of here, and the banks here have not adjusted themselves to this state of affairs. A year or two ago we held $94,000,000 of specie and legals, two years ago $144,000,000, while now we only have $88,000,000, and the difference means a loss of deposits, and that is largely due to these new reserve centers. Then, again, a vast amount of money has gone to build railroads, and most of that comes from here. The Administration could, if it would, relieve matters at once by buying a block of bonds, say $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

A. S. Hatch, ex-president of the Stock Exchange—I am not an alarmist in regard to the money market. I do not believe we are going to have a money panic such as would shake the commercial interests of the country. But we shall have such a tight money market as will puncture the airy bubbles of a bull stock market.

The New York Tribune declares that the supply of money in the country is abundant for all legitimate needs, and that the only effect of future inflation would be to stimulate speculation and thereby aggravate the situation.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—At the Chicago banks money is now quoted firm at 7@8 per cent. Rates have strengthened in a noticeable manner during the present week.

In Brief and to The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular hours, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

THE WESTERN AND SOUTHERN TRIP.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The President and Mrs. Cleveland will leave Washington next week Friday for an absence of three weeks in the West and South. They will be accompanied by no officials, the other members of the party being the President's private secretary, Colonel Lamont, and two personal friends of the President, Mr. Wilson S. Bissell, of Buffalo, N. Y., his former law partner, and Mr. Joseph D. Bryant, of New York, who was a member of his military staff while Governor. The following is the itinerary of the journey:

Leave Washington by Pennsylvania railroad Friday, September 30, at 10 a. m.

Arrive at Montgomery, Ala., Thursday, October 20, at 8 a. m.; leave by Kenesaw and Western North Carolina routes at 1 p. m.

Reach Washington Saturday, October 22, at 6 a. m.

No stops will be made except at the points above mentioned, and in no instance can the time given to cities where stops are to be made be extended. The fact that the journey is timed to meet fixed engagements will prevent any exceptions to this determination, but through the day in passing all places of any considerable size the train will run at a very slow rate of speed.

All the reception committees have been requested to meet the President at their respective cities, instead of en route, as has been proposed in some instances. This is to enable the party to get as much rest and quiet as possible while traveling.

At the suggestion of the President, much proposed speech-making at the places to be visited has been abandoned, and instead an important feature in the programme at each place will be carriage-rides about the cities over previously-announced routes, which will gratify his desire to see the town and their population and enable all to see the President without the discomforts and dangers attending crowded rooms and platforms. Formal acceptances of the invitations for these cities will now be made, earlier notice having been impossible on account of the uncertainty as to the route and dates.

Excitement Among Congregationalists.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 22.—The forthcoming meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions (Congregational) in this city is exciting great interest in the religious world, owing to the fact that the controversy over the "Andover doctrine" of probation after death, which was so prominent at the Des Moines meeting of the board last year, will be revived. Both parties in the church are making active preparations for the contest, and the action of the board is anxiously awaited by Congregationalists everywhere.

A New Revenue Measure.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—An intimate Kentucky friend of Speaker Carlisle declares, upon the supposed authority of the latter, that the President and the Speaker are agreed that party policy demands the passage of a revenue measure by Congress next winter, and that both will do all in their power to accomplish that object. Their attitude is interpreted as foreshadowing the deposition of Mr. Randall from the Appropriations chairmanship of the House.

Heavy Loss at Albany, N. Y.

ALBANY, Sept. 22.—Capron & Wolverton's flour mill, on the pier in front of this city, was burned yesterday morning, with 100,000 bushels of grain. Loss, $150,000; insurance, $100,000. Eight firemen who were caught in an upper story of the building were rescued with difficulty. The ladders, proving too short, were lifted on the shoulders of policemen, and the men dropped to them from the windows.

A Mortgage for Fifty Millions.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Sept. 22.—The largest mortgage ever recorded in this city was left for record in the county clerk's office Tuesday afternoon. It is for $50,000,000, and was given by the New Jersey Central Railroad Company to the Central Trust Company of New York, to run not more than 100 years, bearing five per cent. interest, payable in gold.

To Visit Lincoln's Tomb.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22.—The Committee of Arrangements has fixed the programme for the grand encampment visitors here September 29. At 1:30 p. m. at Lincoln's monument Mayor Hay is to preside and Governor Oglesby to deliver the address of welcome. General John H. Henderson, of St. Louis, will respond.

Undoubtedly Murdered.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 22.—The decomposed body of Lillie Heyte, who disappeared from Webster September 1, was found Tuesday in a barn at Oxford. The head was securely covered, and her feet and hands were bound with rope. It is believed that she was murdered, and her body taken to the barn and concealed.

Rumored Railway Changes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A local paper says through trains will shortly be run between Chicago and the Pacific slope, via the Wisconsin Central, Northern Pacific and Oregon Railway & Navigation lines. The same paper has a rumor that the Union Pacific will build a line from Omaha to Chicago.

Ten Horses Suffocated.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—The second-story floor of the Consolidated street railway stable gave way Tuesday under its heavy load of grain, and ten horses were suffocated.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. MINA B. FINCH.

DIED SEPT. 14, 1887, AGED 47 YEARS, 11 DAYS.

We bend reverently o'er a hallowed form,
And our tears fall quietly down,
As we look on our last on a mother's face,
With its tranquil peace and its patient grace
And hair like a silver crown.

Flowers have whispered of fadeless bloom
In a land where fall no tears;
But the ripe wheat tells of the toil and care,
The patient waiting the trusting prayer,
And the garnered good of years.

We know her patience in life and death:
How kind, how loving and dear;—
Though we may have all that life can give
Of pleasure, sunshine and cheer,
Yet mother is not here.

We know through what labors her hands had passed;
Through what rugged places her feet:
And we joyed in the peace of her brow so white,
And touched already with heaven's own light,
It shone as the refined wheat.

Then faithfully toil that in death you may get
Not only the blossoms sweet:
A well filled life, not rent with fears,
Or the dry husks of life's wasted years,
But laden with golden wheat.

M. T.

Mrs. Finch was born at Chester, Vt., Sept. 3d, 1840. She was married April 1st, 1857. Her husband, Hiram Finch, passed to the other life about five years ago. They removed to the west and settled in Rock Prairie, in the early life of the state. Her death is greatly deplored by a large circle of friends and neighbors, who had learned to love and trust her. Five children are left to mourn her death, viz: Mrs. Frank Finch, Mrs. Leda Reader, Mr. Hallie Finch, Misses Nellie and Hattie Finch.

The funeral services were held at her late residence on Friday last, the 14th inst., at two o'clock p. m. The Rev. Mr. Waite, of All Souls church, officiating. Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable discovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles at this Great Discovery for Consumption free at Frank Sherer & Co.

The Babies' Thumbs.

According to Dr. Berillon, the well-known French specialist, the practice of sucking the thumbs at night, to which so many children are addicted, and of which it is next to impossible to break them, can be put a stop to by a single hypnotization, accompanied, of course, with the requisite suggestion. The child never by any chance returns to the habit again, though his memory retains no trace of the order or prohibition which operates so powerfully on his will.

SHORT ON APPLES.

The Crops Throughout the Country Substantially a Failure.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The crop report issued by the Agricultural Bureau is very discouraging as to apples. It says the apple crop will be very short in every section where extensively grown. Prospects have been unfavorable from the beginning of the season, and the condition has steadily declined at each report. Only in New England and New York was there at any time a prospect of even a medium crop, and their condition has seriously fallen off, suffering a marked decline during the past month.

Elsewhere generally the product will be limited. The Atlantic and Gulf States lose much, from drought, rotting and dropping from insect injuries. There will be in none of this section be fruit for more than home consumption, and in some States not even that. The returns from Ohio westward are of a very similar tenor, condition in most of the States standing at the lowest figure ever reported. There is an exception in the case of Michigan, where a crop but slightly under the average of nonbearing years is indicated.

On the Pacific coast condition is comparatively high, indicating a crop of medium proportions.

THE SOCIALISTS.

Important Changes in the Platform Made by the Congress at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The first business before the Socialistic congress yesterday morning was the report of the Platform Committee. The committee offered a resolution amending the following paragraph in the old platform: "That the land, the instruments of production (machines, factories, etc.), and all the products of labor become the common property of the people. This is modified so that all but the products are common property. The resolution also favors the substitution of co-operative society in place of the present economic system, by proper legislation, in order to prevent a conflict between the wealthy and the poor. The following was also added to the demands of the platform:

"We demand assistance in the formation of working-men's co-operative associations by governmental credit and preference of such associations in the awarding of contracts by the National, State and municipal governments."

The following resolution was also adopted:

"The congress of the Socialistic Labor party assembled in Buffalo, although neither agreeing with the tactics nor with the principles of the Anarchists, nevertheless declares the confirmation of the judgment against the Chicago Anarchists to be unjust, to be dictated by prejudice and class hatred and to be an act of class justice."

Building a Big Vault.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Treasury Department is now building what is undoubtedly the largest single money vault in the world, and which will hold, when full, $100,000,000 in silver dollars. It is in the north court of the department, and will be only a few inches above the level of the ground and will be covered with turf. The contract for the brick work has been let for $33,000. It will be 80 feet long by 50 feet wide, and 11 feet 9 inches high, inside dimensions. The walls will be 4 feet 6 inches thick, the foundation being carried down 3 feet below the vault level and resting on a bed of concrete 6 inches thick.

Asking for Statistics.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 22.—A special dispatch from Washington says: Circulars have been forwarded to all the United States Consuls in Canada asking for certified returns, according to sworn statements made before them, of the exports of various articles at each Canadian port to the United States during the last three years. It is supposed that the Government wants the information with a view to consider the question of closer commercial relations with Canada.

Will Contest Ransom's Seat.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 22.—A special from Norfolk to the American says: "It is stated upon what seems to be good authority that ex-Governor Jarvis, of North Carolina, Minister to Brazil, will resign his position and return home. It is surmised that he will take an active part in the political canvass next year, having in view the position of United States Senator to succeed Hon. N. W. Ransom, of North Carolina.

National Telephonic Convention.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 22.—The National convention of the Telephonic Association will meet here next Monday evening. This is the annual convention, and will be made up of representatives from all the different telephonic companies of the United States. Treaty with Spain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The State Department has promulgated the agreement made between Spain and the United States for the reciprocal suspension of all discriminating duties upon tonnage on imports in the United States and the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico and all countries belonging to the Crown of Spain upon vessels of the respective countries and their cargoes.

Fatal Oil Fire Near Cygnet, O.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 22.—A fire broke out in the oil field near Cygnet, O., and nearly all the large storage tanks of the Buckeye pipe line (Standard Oil Company) were threatened at one time, but the loss is only $10,000. It is thought that the engineer in charge of the field was burned to death. Another man was badly burned and may die. The total loss is about $100,000.

Dynamite for a Saloon.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 22.—The principal saloon of the village of Dupont, O., has been blown up with dynamite, and it is supposed that the temperance people did the deed, as the saloon proprietor has openly violated the laws. No one was hurt by the explosion. No arrests have been made.

"White Caps" at Work.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 22.—A gang of fifty regulators of the "white-cap" fraternity whipped seven men severely with hickory switches near Corydon, Ind., recently. The men were charged with minor offenses.

An Arizona sheriff with a posse of forty men has gone to the San Pedro river to arrest a number of Indians accused of stealing horses and killing cattle.

A Flat Contradiction.

Some one has told you that your catarrh is incurable. It is not so. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure it. It is pleasant to use and it always does its work thoroughly. We have yet to hear of a case in which it did not accomplish a cure when faithfully used. Catarrh is a disease which it is dangerous to neglect. A certain remedy is at your command. Avail yourself of it before the complaint assumes a more serious form. All druggists.

A DETECTIVE'S RIDE.

His Experience in a Horse-Car with the Conductor and a Passenger.

Chief Drummond of the Secret-Service Department of the United States Treasury has his headquarters in the post-office building, and is, according to the New York Commercial Advertiser, one of the most ubiquitous detectives in Gotham. His business is arresting counterfeiters and keeping generally posted on the subject of counterfeits. He knows in an instant a spurious coin, and any smaller than one dollar he destroys by placing the piece between his massive jaws and breaking it. The other day he had a curious adventure. He was going up-town in a surface-car and handed the conductor one dollar. When the change came back the sharp eyes of the detective discovered a counterfeit dime. He placed the coin between his teeth, broke it, and handed the pieces back to the conductor. The conductor became angry and began to upbraid the chief for mutilating the spurious coin.

It then occurred to the detective that perhaps the conductor was "shoving the queer," so he asked him if he had any more bogus coins. The reply was that it was none of his business. Then followed a little scene. The chief said in a commanding way: "Show me all the money you have on your person." The conductor evidently suspected something, and showed all his money, pulling his pockets wrong side outward.

An Israelite seated next to the chief said he would be tunder und blitzened if dot man lived who would make him turn his pockets. He then told the detective what bad luck he had in passing a counterfeit dollar. He said he kept a store on the East Side, and every day he offered that bad dollar to a customer, but it never left the counter before it was discovered and handed back to him. His brother-in-law, who also kept a store, had better luck, so whenever he was taken in with counterfeit money he sold it at a discount to his brother-in-law.

"If you have any of those counterfeit coins on your person now, I will send you to State prison," coolly remarked the detective.

"Vot you take me for, a fiat?"

"I'll take you for my prisoner, if you say you have spurious coin on you that you intend to pass."

The detective threw back his coat, displaying his large shield.

"I vas a liar, I vas a liar!" cried the Israelite, as he got up hastily and fled from the car, amid roars of laughter from the passengers.

Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic is not a stimulant but a nerve food, restoring nerve force lost by sickness or excessive mental work or the use of liquor, opium morphine or tobacco. It supplies food for nerve tissues and by its gentle aperative action, removes all restraint from the secretive organs, hence curing all disease of stomach and liver. Prentice & Evenson, O. P., will supply the genuine Red Clover Tonic at 50 cents a bottle

LYNCH LAW JUSTIFIED.

A Few Words About the Human Hog That Picks His Teeth at Table.

If it is ill-bred and vulgar for a man at a restaurant-table to rattle his knife and fork and other table-wear, it is boastly for him to pick his teeth there, says a writer in the Chicago Journal. Twenty years ago it was well understood by all decent people that the teeth were not to be picked or sucked in sight of other people, let alone at the table. But the introduction of the wooden tooth-pick has changed all this. This highly useful little article is almost omnipresent. It has an honored place on the counter of the hotel and restaurant office, and on the very dinner-table itself. Encouraged by its presence, the human hog, while waiting for his second course, seizes a tooth-pick, and whiles away the moments in excavating the debris of his first course from his hollow teeth. In reaching his back teeth, sometimes toothpick and thumb and forefinger disappear in the hole in his countenance. There is no help for it now, but the time will come when the police will be rung in to arrest such a creature. To the shame of such men, I will inform them that I have been told by physicians that the human mouth, as it now exists, is the most revolting part of the human body. Nature made it a beautiful feature; but dyspepsia, neglect, decay, whisky and tobacco have made it a holy horror! Unless one wants to make all around him sick, let him not force on them any imagination of the inside of his mouth. Any tinkering of the teeth, or any sound of suction in the mouth at a dinner-table justifies lynch law.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely, for the last fifteen years, and I had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored, and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh.—Mrs. E. E. Grimes, 67 Valley St, Rendrill, Perry Co., Ohio.

Impertinent Bill Collectors.

A Philadelphia collector has adopted an ingenious device for bringing delinquent debtors to terms. He makes his visits to them in a carriage on which is painted in bold letters, "Installment Collector of Unpaid Bills." The Press says he stopped the other day at an uptown house and rang the bell. The woman who came to the door shook her head, indicating that she was not prepared to settle her bill. "Well," said he, "I'll have to drive around again." Womanlike, she looked after him as he was departing, and her eyes fell on the carriage, with its give-away inscription. Her face paled with indignation, and she could hardly suppress her wrath as she beckoned to the collector to come back. He returned, and she evidently settled her account, for he erased something from a small book he held in his hand, and an expression of contentment played over his face as he jumped into his carriage and drove off. The house door closed with a bang.

There is no denying the fact that Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic is the most successful blood purifier ever put on the market. Its wonderful cures in all stomach, kidney and liver troubles has brought out many imitations. It restores debilitated nerve tissues, restoring the force lost by sickness, mental-work or excessive use of liquor, opium and tobacco Prentice & Evenson will supply the genuine at 50 cents a bottle.

Novel Ante-Nuptial Contract.

A suit brought in the Court of Common Pleas in Pickaway County, Ohio, brings to light a novel ante-nuptial contract. Colonel L. H. Bond, now a well-known lawyer of Cincinnati, was, in 1864, living at Circleville, O. He had recently been elected prosecuting attorney. In September of that year he married Miss Eva Saxon, the adopted daughter of Josiah Renick, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens of that region. He afterwards moved to Cincinnati, where he prospered. Not long ago Mr. Renick died, leaving the income of his property to his widow during her lifetime, and after her death the property was to go to certain religious institutions. Thereupon Mrs. Bond brought suit for $50,000 against the executors of the estate, and alleged in her complaint that Mr. Renick had entered into a written agreement on July 10, 1864, to will to her at his death the sum now sued for, the sole condition of the contract being that Lawyer Bond and she should be married within sixty days after the signing of the contract.

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura

Through the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your Cuticura Remedies, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your Cuticura Remedies a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on 9th says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them and was perfectly cured."

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your Cuticura Remedies for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

Choking Catarrh

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from you? Is your nostrils closed? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this gathered matter? What a depressed influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to get the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to feel its wonderful power. A statement is made purposely that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each package contains one bottle of the Radical cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise, price $1.

—"Secretary E. B. Heimstreet, of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical society," says the Chicago Druggist, "is secretary of about everything he is connected with including the Rock county agricultural fair. The resemblance of the pharmacist to the farm-assist has often been noted."

—Frank L. Hayden has received a very flattering offer from Howard W Tilton, of the Council Bluffs Bee, and will leave for his new field of work Saturday. For the present his family will remain in this city. Mr. Hayden's many friends will regret his departure, but will unite in wishing him success at whatever he undertakes.

—Mayor Winans and wife have received an invitation to be present at the presidential banquet to be given at the Plankinton house, Milwaukee, on the evening of October 6th. The banquet is given in honor of the visit of President and Mrs. Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Winans have accepted the invitation and will be present, representing the Bower City.

—The president of the W. C. T. U. would make most emphatic appeal to every member, and particularly to every lady interested in the work, to be present at the meeting, at 3 o'clock, sharp, Tuesday afternoon, September 27th, to talk over and prepare for the winter's work. Also, to take action on the proposed oyster supper expected to take place at the Wayside Inn the last of next week.

—The funeral of the late John Heffron, who died at his home in the town of Harmony on Tuesday evening, at the age of sixty-seven years, took place at St. Mary's church, this city, at eleven o'clock this morning. The Rev. Father Roche conducted the funeral services which were very impressive, and were attended by a large number of friends. Deceased leaves a wife and four children to mourn his death. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery.

—it is an open secret, says the Beloit Free Press, that shortly after the marriage of the belle of Racine with Dr. Tum-ble-up-ward, the celebrated Janesville Kickapoo, application was made to the Janesville authorities by Fraid-of-em, another Kickky, for protection against the determined advances of the handsomest young lady of that city. "Me fraid! Heap ugly! Ugh! explained the dusky son of nature. He was protected, and the fair one incarcerated in the Rockford seminary by her loving pa.

—"I see the Gazette has backed down from its position on the nineteen dollar question." So said a prominent citizen to a reporter to-day. The Recorder was given as authority for the statement of such retraction. We are at a loss to understand what word of ours has been misconstrued into such condition of things. The Gazette of Tuesday last took its position upon this question, and said all it thought necessary to say. The facts therein set forth have not been gainsayed, nor have its opinions been met with counter facts, opinions, or arguments. Until such time arrives—which, in our opinion, will never be—the Gazette is content to hold the position previously taken. A constant reference to a thing, such as the Recorder evidently wants, neither strengthens our own cause or weakens that of another.

—What was almost a burglary scare, happened in a well known first ward residence last night. It all came from a young lady's mistake. She retired to her sleeping room without a light and was soon all ready to nestle down under the sheets. But as she turned down the coverlid something seemed to move on the side of the bed nearest the wall. The room was several shades darker than pitch, but when a badly frightened baritone voice yelled "Help! Murder! Thieves!' and number ten boots began to fly through the air, the young lady, with rare feminine intuition, decided very promptly that something was wrong. And there was, too. She had mistaken the room occupied by a young man from Fond du Lac for her own, and the young man had awakened just in time to see her bending over him in the darkness. Rumor says that her yell as she fled through the door curdled all the milk in the house, but of this we know nothing definite. One thing that we do know, however, is that when she goes up stairs again without a light the weather will be very, very cold.

—This from the Council Bluff's Bee (Mr. H. W. Tilton's paper) is flat contradiction of the charge made by the Recorder that Mr. Tilton was trying to hold up the Richmond fire-alarm system, and insinuating that he was the only man in Council Bluffs they could hear of who favored that system. The charge against Mr. Tilton was made up, like the charge against ex-Chief Engineer Spencer, right in the Recorder office, in order to "bridge over" a little unpleasantness and divert public opinion. The Bee of yesterday morning in its brief items, written by Mr. Tilton, says: "A genuine surprise was given those in the council chamber last night by hearing Alderman Keller's name read, as being one who signed the document setting forth the fact that the fire alarm system was working unsatisfactorily to the city. This is what many supposed but an acknowledgment of it has been impossible to get heretofore. The report was signed by Metcalf and Wells also." And in the proceedings of the Council Bluffs common council, published in the same paper, we find this paragraph: "A committee composed of Metcalf, Wells and Keller recommended that the Richmond fire alarm company settlement be deferred, as the system is not working at all satisfactorily. It was passed unanimously."

MATRIMONIAL.

WARE—LORD.

Yesterday, at the home of the bride's father, ex-State Senator S. L. Lord, at Edgerton, Hon. J. F. Ware, now state senator representing the Fond du Lac district, and Miss Mae L. Lord were united in marriage, the Rev. C. H. Richards, of the Congregational church at Madison performing the ceremony. The many friends of the happy bride will wish her a long and prosperous future. Mr. and Mrs. Ware will reside in Fond du Lac at which place Mr. Ware is one of the leading attorneys and is known throughout the state, having represented his district in the state legislature for several years, in which body he was one of the most able prominent men.

ALLEN—BACON.

On Thursday last, Justice Prichard quietly united in marriage Mr. Lafayette Allen, of this city, and Miss Ella Bacon, of Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will probably make their home in the west, whither Mr. Allen has now gone to look up a location. The best wishes of many friends follow them.

SUSAN IS LATE.

To-morrow morning is the date of the first session of the woman's suffrage meeting. Miss Susan B. Anthony was to have made the opening address, but a telegram to the Gazette from the Rev. Olympia Brown states that Miss Anthony will not arrive in time to carry out that part of the programme.

A GOOD RECORD.

Decisions of the Supreme Court on Cases from This Circuit.

In deciding upon the appeals from Jefferson, Green and Rock counties at its last term, the supreme court sustained Judge Bennett in all but two cases. We understand that the question upon which the reversal of the last of these two was founded was not raised in the circuit court. The decisions have just been announced, and are as follows:

Stacy vs. Jefferson Co. Order affirmed.

Magnus vs. Sleeper. Order affirmed.

Schutze vs. Continental Life Insurance Co. Order affirmed.

Stylow vs. Wisconsin Odd Fellows' Mutual Life Insurance Co. Judgment affirmed.

Edgerton Tobacco Manufacturing Co. vsr Croft. Order affirmed.

Watertown vs. town of Waterloo. Judgment affirmed.

Blakely vs. Twining et al. Judgment affirmed.

Watertown vs. Robinson. Judgment reversed.

Plano Manufacturing Co. vs. Racey. Motion to dismiss appeal overruled and judgment reversed.

SOME FINE DOGS.

Some Very Fine Specimens at the Milwaukee Exposition.

The following from the Milwaukee Journal will interest many readers: The principal attraction at the Exposition building to-day is the dog show, the patronage of which is steadily increasing. The exhibit is pronounced by dog fanciers to be the best ever seen in this section of the country, and is by long odds superior to anything in this line Milwaukee has ever attempted. The St. Bernards, mastiffs, hounds, Irish setters, collies, water spaniels and setters are the principal objets of attraction. The poodles, pugs and terriers, in spite of the fact that they are somewhat old fashion, catch the eyes of the ladies, who stand around and lavish all manner of endearing and affectionate terms upon the "dear little things." One of the most valuable brutes in the lot is a white setter from Pittsburg, of exalted parentage, valued at $500. Another valuable animal is an educated water spaniel which performs all sorts of tricks and displays almost human intelligence. He tells the number of days in the week, can multiply one number by another, and above all can play seven-up. He engaged in a game last night with an expert seven-up player, and came out an easy winner. But the dog never gambles.

WATERTOWN TOURNAMENT.

Notwithstanding the rain and disagreeable day, there was a large attendance at the firemen's tournament at Watertown yesterday. At noon the Rough and Ready flouring mills, owned by Christian Koenig, were burned, the loss being estimated at $20,000. It is said that the mill was the first one erected in Jefferson county, way back in '47. This furnished excitement for the visiting firemen for a time. Regarding the firemen's tournament, a special dispatch to the Milwaukee Sentinel says: Five hundred firemen from various portions of the state were present at the firemen's tournament held to-day in the central fair grounds and perfected a state tournament organization by the choice of the following officers: President, C. W. Harvey, Beaver Dam; corresponding secretary, J. G. Simmons, Baraboo; recording secretary, O. J. Kirschensteiner, Jefferson. It was decided to hold the next tournament at Madison. In the hook and ladder race the first prize was awarded to the Fort Atkinson company; Jefferson, second; Beaver Dam, third and Portage, fourth. In the hose company race, Madison took the first prize, Edgerton the second, Fort Atkinson the third and Portage the fourth.

CRAZY PATCH.

Kate Castleton who will play at the opera house to-night is receiving the warmest of praise wherever she goes. The Philadelphia Inquirer speaks of her as follows: "Miss Kate Castleton' in "Crazy Patch," was greeted last night, at the Walnut street theatre, with a house crowded from pit to dome. The play is new, and, as the programme explains it, "is constructed for laughing purposes only." A lunatic, William Smith, escapes from the asylum and finds his way to the house of Jupiter Tubbs, and is mistaken for Dr. Arthur Sullivan, a popular young physician, who is also on the medical staff of the asylum. The lunatic tries the asylum treatment on the bon fide doctor, and is arranging to kill him when he is discovered as the true non compos mentis.

Altogether the piece in its construction represents a true picture, which shows that the title is no misnomer. Miss Castleton, as Sybillia Tubbs, sings and acts with her accustomed chic, and is ably supported by the entire company. The acts number three, and are headed respectively, "Funny," "Funnier" and "Funniest," and the programme is adequately fulfilled."

Sore Shoulder Cured.

180 CARROL ST., BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 13, 1885.—I have been a clerk in the Continental Hotel, corner Exchange and Michigan Streets, for some years, and first used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS three years ago for a sore shoulder. I fell down stairs and got a terrible wrench and bruise. For several years I suffered acute pain in the shoulder joint, and, getting no relief, or only temporary from numerous liniments, I put on an ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER; kept it on for two or three weeks, and my shoulder was well. They also cured me in six weeks of a most obstinate form of dyspepsia. CHARLES A. STILES.

EVANSVILLE.

—County Clerk Williams spent Sunday in this place.

—The ball club of this place has challenged the Oregon club to play three games for a purse of $100 or $200. The challenge was owing to the manner which our boys were treated by the Oregon club at the last game.

—Beloit and our ball clubs will play two games at this place next Saturday.

—The races last Saturday were a success. J. C. Owen's horse took first money in the free-for-all race, George Murwin second and Frank Pyre, of Fulton, took third. The farmers' race David Vanwort took first, Art. Spencer second, and Edwin Blakley took third money. The running race Frank Griffith Jr. took first, Will Taggert second and A. M. Vanwarner third. They made the best time in the free-for-all race that has ever been made on this track making half mile in 1:12. The farmers half mile race was trotted in 1:43½. The association is talking of getting up another race this fall.

—J. C. Owen's horse, that took the free for all race here last Saturday, if nothing happens, will be one of the best horses in the state. He has improved a good deal since he was here the last time. He made a half mile in 1:12.

Stylow, of Watertown, were past due when he died, did not invalidate the policy. The ground for this decision was that by accepting overdue assessments several times previously the company had waved the right to declare the policy forfeited for delay of more than sixty days in paying assessments.

JOHNSTOWN.

—There was no frost in this neighborhood to be seen on Friday morning last but we hear they had some two miles south of us. Tobacco and vines are flourishing here yet, and as much as half the tobacco is in the sheds. Pumpkin vines are now in full bloom and we may get a crop of them yet if Jack Frost keeps away. Cucumber vines are bearing well which we thought were almost dead before the rains. Cabbage and root crops that got well started before the rains came are doing nicely, but most of the turnips did not sprout and consequently they will be very small at the best. There is an abundance of fall feed and all stock will get a good start for the winter. Most of the corn is in shock and will be a very large share of the fodder used the coming winter. Many of the fields will be fed without husking. Apples are very scarce and there will be but a few for cider. Most of the farmers are plowing and much of it is already done. Threshing is finished, as they say a short horse is soon curried.

—Mr. Highland Morse died on Friday, and his funeral was held Sunday. The Rev. Jackson, of the Congregational church, officiated. A very large number of his old neighbors and friends were present. This is the third funeral at Johnstown Center within three weeks.

—Mr. Rye has bought one hundred acres of the Henry Crumb farm; Charles Robinson has bought the Houston farm in the town of Darien; Mr. Clough has taken the farm of Mr. Wilking for a term of years in the town of Richmond; Will Anderson will work the farm of Mrs. Newberry, in this town; John McFarlane has gone into the town of Darien, to work his father-in-law's Mr. Williams' farm; Robert Barlase has got a fine house nearly finished on his farm on the middle road, and we think he expects to occupy it before the cold weather, and he will need some company to assist. Robert, just look along the sunny side of the same street.—

I love to see the gentle hand,
Dispose with modest grace.
The household things around thy house,
And each thing in its place.

—Mrs. Betsy Kittings, an inmate of the Rock county poor house died Sept. 17, and was interred on the 18th. Appropriate services conducted by Rev. D. B. Jacson, with singing by Mr. and Mrs. Cheney. She was aged sixty-five (65) and had been ill but a short time with cholera morbus. Her former home was Beloit.

—September 19th, the day Wiggins prophesied would be the worst day that was ever seen in this country, has passed, and we thought it a very pleasant day indeed. We paid no attention to Wiggins' foolishness and accomplished a good day's work. We think here that Wiggins ought to have a lock well fastened upon his jaws so that he cannot issue any more prophecies.

—Many of the farmers will attend the Walworth county fair if the weather is suitable.

—B. B. Woodbury left here on the 11th inst. for his farm in Ohio, where he is getting out his black walnut timber and putting it in market. He has one tree which he has refused $100 for. Much of his land there is heavily timbered.

—The Randall brothers are on the sick list.

RANDOM RHYMES.

The Maid and the Sage.

There was a man of knowledge, deep, commanding sweep, who knew a heap, a man who studied day and night, and hardly spared the time to sleep.

This man so staid, he knew a maid, demure, afraid and half dismayed, shy as the nymph of ancient myths sequestered in some sylvan shade.

This maid so rare with golden hair and modest air, so debonair, she charmed the man of learned lore, and caught him in her witching snare.

This man of thought and learned lore, his hair he tore, and o'er and o'er he loudly swore that he would cherish her for aye, and he would love her evermore.

Now they are wed, in his library nooks his knees he crooks, and sees his wife so seldom now that he's forgotten how she looks.

The wife to whom the man before so loudly swore he would adore for evermore, lives with her mother, and declares her husband is a regular bore.

When Nature Weeps.

It is said that nature shudders
When a woman throws a stone,
And that when she sharpens pencils
Then all nature gives a groan.

But there's nothing that gives nature
More keen anguish and distress
Than to see a struggling father
With a babe he tries to dress.

How Was the Game?

"Oh, how was the game?" was the anxious cry
To a couple of men as they passed him by.

One turned and smiled as he said: "Oh fine!
'Twas as good as a glass of the mellowest wine!"

While the other said, with a scowl and a sneer:
"The rottenest game I have seen this year!"

They passed along, and the questioner said,
As his fat sides shook and his face grew red:

"There are many men of as many minds;
There are many bets of as many kinds;

"But, though men and wagers disagree,
The mind and purse are in sympathy."

For although he possessed neither shillings nor pence,

A Masquerader.

To the beach when he came
All our hearts grew aflame,
For he was an Apollo in feature;
And the gilding of birth
Brightly crowned all his worth
And we vowed him an elegant creature.

But, alas! for the spell
From the gilded mark fell,
From our noble guest, handsome and witty,
And we learned with chagrin
We were all taken in
By a vender of fruit from the city.

A Logical Deduction.

(Being a Fact.)

A blue-eyed maiden left her byre
On Erin's sea-embossed isle,
And landed by our kitchen fire,
Her face one broad and beaming smile.

My wife was hero with patient voice,
My wife was there with ready hand;
At least it made our hearts rejoice
To fondly dream she'd understand.

And I myself, one rueful day,
Vainglorious, showed her how to ope,
The pulpy contents scrape away,
And serve the luscious cantaloupe.

"Dear wife," I call, "you women all
Exaggerate their want of brain;
In language kind for Celtic mind
But once these things you need explain."

My sweet wife smiled—it seemed unkind—
But not a single word did say.
And Bridget, flushed with pride, next day
(We had some friends who with us dined)
Served up the watermelon rind,
Its pink pulp neatly scraped away.

Prospects Spoiled, as Usual.

They thought to have a cottage neat
With honeysuckles twining,
And live in lovers' transports sweet,
All other cares resigning.

The goal of peace they thought to win

For papa and the dog.

The Bachelor's Plaint.

Rang, g-lang, a-tang,
Each morn at break of day,
Rings out the bell, with startling knell,
That chases sleep away.

Bang, bang, bang,
A thunderous din resounds,
As on my door, at the hour of four,
A boisterous servant pounds.

Hash, hash, hash,
Each morn for breakfast I get;
My bosom aches for hot pancakes
Or fresh egg omelet.

Toot, toot, toot,
Oh, would that a house might fall
On the villain's back who doth so rack
That horn across the hall.

Sad, sad, sad,
Is a boarding-house life to me:
Its comforts rare and meager fare
Right gladly would I flee.

WOMEN AND EXERCISE.

A Writer Who Varies the Usual Cry and Says They Need Rest.

There is a deal of nonsense about the wonderful good health and fine physiques of our grandmothers, writes Janet Dale in the Chicago News. American women are told continually that their want of health is becoming proverbial. Averagely this mythical increasing fragility is attributed to insufficient exercise. Yet out-of-door amusements are the "fad" of the time. The young woman who does not indulge in lawn games, row, ride, take long walks, and occupy her leisure in one way or another with more or less violent exercise is quite behind the swim.

Yet the same old cry swells up from time to time about the inactivity of American women. The physical culture of the ancients and the robustness of their granddames is held up before their accredited weakly vision. Women who work in the fields are shown to them, figuratively, as specimens of perfect physical development.

Statistics do not support the assertions that the women of to-day are less healthy than those of fifty or seventy-five years ago. Instead, the old fact in figures stares the gauzy theory in the face with the assurance that longevity in women has increased a large percentage during that period. Neither does comparison of the women who pass their lives in field-work and those employed in industries more suited to their sex support the story of their superior physical condition. They are found early in life with bent frames, furrowed brows, misshapen hands and feet, often with disorders peculiar to their sex, incurred from exposure and overwork.

It is true that most women do not know enough about the laws that govern health and the diseases incident to their sex. But they are wise in this particular in comparison with their grandmothers.

The American woman of to-day is far healthier than the women who preceded her. She is no less active because she may not spin and weave, make butter and cheese. In reality she is the hardest-working woman in the world.

More exercise is not what the majority of American women need. It is more relaxation—more rest. The in-door labor performed by the average American housewife is astonishing. The English and German women do not attempt to do half the work of an ordinary American wife and mother. American women of middle age who break down in health are more apt to do so from too much exercise than from inactivity.

WEIRD PANTOMIME.

A Strange Scene Witnessed by a Conductor on the Mojave Desert.

"I have the worst time in the world convincing my people of the real facts about mirages on the Colorado desert," said Conductor Tom Williamson, of the Atlantic & Pacific road, to a San Francisco Examiner reporter.

"Twenty miles out from Mojave, on my run, and all across the desert every morning just after sunrise, you see every thing. You'd think you were right on the bank of a river, but you never get to it. Then, again, you see a magnificent lake, the color of an emerald—no go, no lake, can't get to it. And bless my stars, though I run over that road every day, and see these scenes over and over again, I can't bring myself to believe that I don't see water. Well, if it's difficult for me, how much more difficult is it for the passengers.

"Between my own superstitions about these things, if you may call them such, the questions of a fresh grist of passengers every day, and my regular duties, you may be sure I have enough to do.

"I have heard of ghosts hovering around and bothering railroad trains. I never saw any ghosts—that is, none of those things dressed in white—but I'll tell you what I did see once. The sun rose just as we were crawling out of Fenner, which is a station two hundred miles east of Mojave. It tipped as glorious a lake as I ever saw, all in an effulgent glow. Upon that lake moving to and fro was a myriad of people, gliding hither and thither. The scene reminded me of the realization of a strange mythological tale. It appeared to me as though there were a thousand people on that lake, big and little, old and young, male and female.

"It was as if the whole thing was in pantomime, and then all at once the 'thing,' or whatever it was, disappered.

"I was scared. Upon my word I was. I have a sort of a notion that I'll get a new route. The hobgoblins on those mirages alarm me."
